

How to get to the IGTP

We are 30 minutes drive from the centre of Barcelona.
Private vehicle or taxi is probably the most convenient way to arrive, but the following public transport options are available:

By car or taxi:

GPS: 41°29'4.974"N | 2°14'20.379" E

Your options are:

- B20: from Barcelona (exit 21), from Mataró (exit 23)
- C31-32: from Barcelona (exit Badalona Centre – Mollet), from Mataró (exit Badalona Nord – Mollet)
- BV-5011, from Montcada i Reixac
- B-500, from Mollet del Vallès

By public transport:

There are several possibilities, all of which require a final bus connection. Total travel time 30-60 minutes.

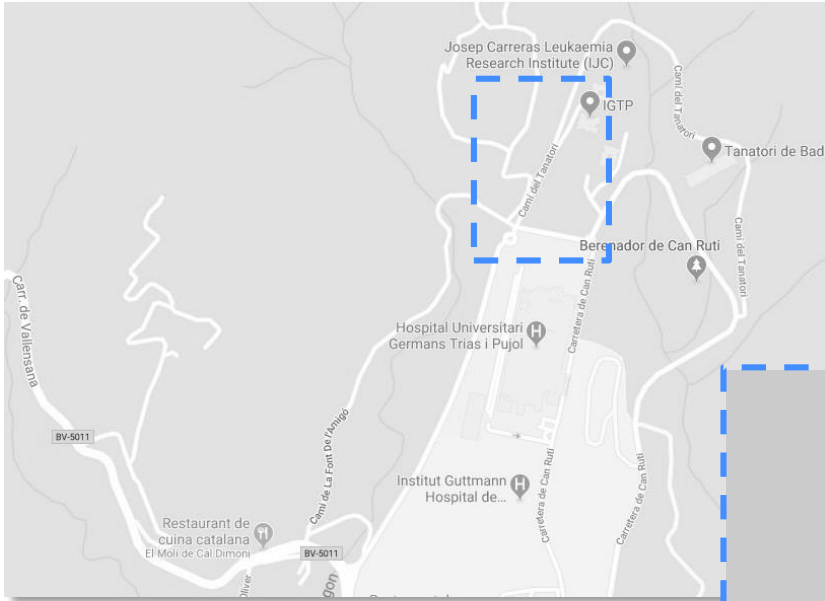

B6	Rodalies Badalona – Can Ruti	R
B12	Pl. Lluís Companys (Montcada) – Can Ruti
B19	Vall d’Hebron – Can Ruti
B24	Ronda Sant Pere – Can Ruti
B26	Rodalies Sant Adrià del Besòs – Can Ruti	R
M28	Rodalies Sant Andreu Comtal – Can Ruti	R
E33	Tiana/Montgat – Can Ruti
N.11 [€]	Pl. Catalunya (BCN) – Can Ruti

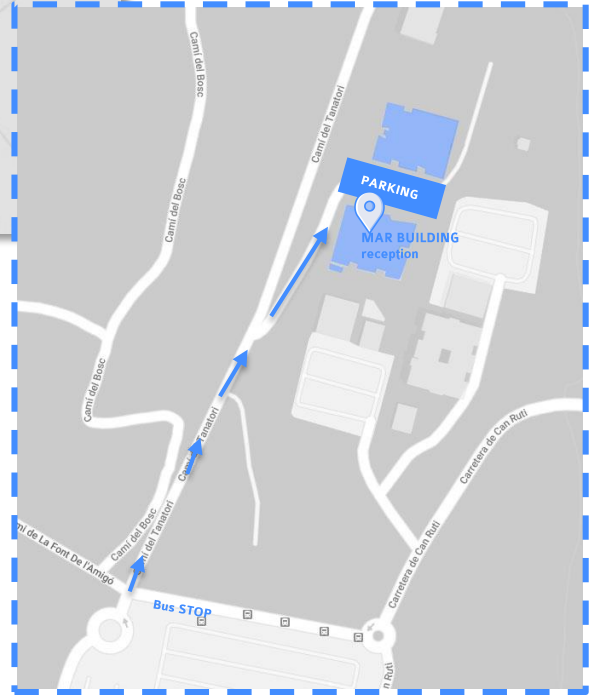

L1 L9_N	Fondo – connection with B27/B19 bus
L1 L4	Urquinaona – connection with B24 bus
L1	Sant Andreu – connection with M28 bus
L2	Pompeu Fabra – connection with B26/B6/M28 bus
L3	Vall d’Hebron – connection with B19 bus
L10_N	La Salut / Llefià – connection with B19/B24 bus

Bus service website:

<http://www.tusgsal.cat/cat/servei-d-autobus/can-ruti-barcelona.html>

41°29'4.974"N
2°14'20.379" E

On campus:

Once on the campus you should follow the road behind the car-park (hospital remains on your right) and go to the roundabout. The road to the institute goes up the hill from this roundabout (more parking on the right). At the top of a 100 m rise the entrance is signed to the right. Park in front of the building, Reception is in the Mar Building.

Walking from the bus stop you have to follow the same path indicated on the map. Leaving the bus stops behind and on your left, go towards the roundabout and up the hill from there. At the top of a 100 m rise, the entrance is on the right and there is a sign at the intersection. The institute is at the bottom of the ramp. Reception is in the Mar Building.